FORMER RATES ARE EFFECTIVE AGAIN

NEW DAY DAWNING, ASSERTS SPEAKER

Burleson Telephone Schedules As to Intra State Service are Cancelled at Midnight.

RESULT OF THE INJUNCTION

Order of Marion County Judge, However, Does Not Interfere With Interstate Phone Changes.

May Get Refund.

By United Press.

Indianapolis, Feb. 22.—Telephone patrons who were forced to pay the increased toll rates and installation and removal charges ordered by Postmaster General Burleson may be entitled to a refund in the opinion of state officials today, under the injunction handed down by Judge Ewbank in the Marion circuit court.

The Burleson increased telephone rates which have been in effect for several weeks, were cancelled at midnight Friday so far as Indiana service is concerned as a result of the temporary injunction which was granted by Judge Louis B. Ewbank in the Marion circuit court. The Seymour Mutual Telephone Company received telegraphic instructions late Friday night to institute the former rates at midnight. The old rates have prevailed on all intrastate service since that time.

As the injunction was granted upon a petition filed by the Central Union and Indianapolis Telephone Companies in Indianapolis, the order of the Marion circuit court affects only service within the state. Calls which have been placed for Chicago, Louisville, Cincinnati or other points out of Indiana have been placed at the increased rates which were specified in the Burleson order. It is expected that some action will be taken in the near future to prevent the enforcement of the rates throughout the country, but until such a federal order is issued the higher tariffs will prevail except in states where temporary injunctions have been granted.

The reinstatement of the old rates means that the person to person calls and the other provisions of the Burleson order are no longer heeded. A party may now place a call for any Indiana point without guaranteeing the entry charge.

The local company had no further information relative to the Ewbank injunction and did not know when the arguments would be made in an effort to make it permanent. So long as the injunction stands, however, the county toll charges which were recently put into effect in Jackson county will not be made. The exchange employees have found that the new rate system resulted in a vast amount of additional work as the records of the calls were more complicated because of the several charges that were provided.

SUPPER SERVED TO 425 BY LADIES OF M. E. CHURCH

Interesting Program Given During the Evening—Short Address by Judge Charles J. Orbison.

What is regarded as the most successful of the Washington Birthday suppers that are given annually by the Ladies Aid Society of the First M. E. church was held Friday night. Plates for 425 members of the church and visitors were laid during the evening. An excellent meal was served.

During the evening an interesting program was given. Vocal selections were rendered by Miss Gertrude Robbins, with Miss Anna Massman as accompanist, and Leonard Bartlett, with Mrs. Willard Everhart at the piano. Zickler's orchestra also gave a program of selections. The Rev. Charles W. Whitman, pastor, presided during the evening. Judge Charles M. Orbison, of Indianapolis, who came here to give an address at the Masonic meeting, was a guest at the church and made a brief talk on, "The Duty of Men in the New Day Church."

The members of the Aid Society and those who were responsible for the supper are greatly gratified with the excellent results.

Musical Program Also Rendered After Which Smoker and Social Hour is Enjoyed.

"The long, black night is over and in the East the sun is rising upon a new day," declared Charles J. Orbison, of Indianapolis, in an address at the Washington birthday memorial which was given Friday night by Jackson Lodge, F. & A. M. Mr. Orbison is the deputy Grand Master of the Indiana lodge. The lodge room was filled with members of the local lodge and visitors. W. C. Young, W. M., presided at the evening's program which was arranged by a special committee. Several beautiful selections were rendered by Zickler's orchestra and a number of patriotic songs were sung by the audience.

J. W. Hays read a very interesting account of George Washington's Masonic career. The speaker was introduced by the presiding officer.

Mr. Orbison emphasized the three great Masonic principles of friendship, morality and brotherly love. He pointed out that it was the practical application of friendship and brotherhood that caused the United States to enter the world war and defend civilization and punish the brutal

FRANKLIN ATTORNEY MAY ENTER STATE AUDITOR RACE

William G. Oliver Visits Seymour to Talk Over the Matter With Some of His Friends.

William G. Oliver, an attorney at Franklin, was here today discussing with some of his friends relative to his possible entrance into the race for Republican candidate for auditor of state. Mr. Oliver was mentioned in connection with this office in the last campaign but decided not to become a candidate at that time. Mr. Oliver has a wide acquaintance through the state.

So far as known there will not be a large number of candidates for state office from the Fourth district in the next campaign and those who are interested in particular candidates believe that the district has a better chance of nominating its men if the field is not "muddled." It is pointed out that in the past the Fourth has presented several candidates for the various offices and the result is that the vote is divided and the "plum" goes out of the district.

LOCAL VOTERS WOULD LIKE TO SEE PRIMARY LAW CHANGED

Permanent Registration is One of the Proposed Amendments Before the Legislature.

The present primary and registration law is not satisfactory to the majority of voters in this county and they would like to see the measure amended by the present legislature.

The same complaint has come from other counties in the state and several changes are before the legislators. One proposed amendment would provide for a permanent registration of voters so that when a voter once registers he will not be required to go through the procedure again until he moved from the precinct. Another suggestion that is receiving serious consideration is that the registration be conducted on two days instead of having a registration board in session for five or six months preceding the general election. It is believed certain that many of the objectionable features of the present law will be eliminated by the legislature and such changes will be very acceptable here.

NEW ALBANY FALLS BEFORE S.H.S. TEAM

Local Basketball Quintet Takes Fast Game on Opponents' Floor by Score of 27 to 26.

DISTRICT HOPES RENEWED

New Albany Defeated the Local Team, 40 to 27, During Early Part of The Season.

The untiring efforts of the S. H. S. basketball team resulted in a victory over the New Albany H. S. at New Albany Friday night by the close score of 27 to 26. The New Albany quintet appeared on the local floor about six weeks ago and defeated S. H. S. to the tune of 40 to 27. The southern Indiana lads appeared last night with two substitutes in their line-up, Randall, forward, and Burke, center, being out, while the locals were without their star back-guard. Mercer was out of the game last night because of injuries received during the Columbus-Seymour game last Wednesday.

The game was played at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. The floor was a little smaller than the high school gym of this city but had a very high ceiling. On the side lines were rows of chairs with a balcony above. Throughout the entire game the locals could not get accustomed to New Albany's rules of the game. They could not understand how the "side lines" could be the walls of the gymnasium when the crowd was seated inside the gymnasium. Although many fouls were made by both teams, few were called.

The New Albany players showed some good team work while the locals were a little slow, being very tired from the hard fought game Wednesday night. However S. H. S. possessed the "stick-to-itiveness" that won the game. With but one minute and a half to play, the "purple and white" had the small end of a 25 to 22 score. G. Keach and Hinthorn were the stars of the game, the former registering six field goals and the latter five.

James was the first to score but New Albany soon took the lead, hitting the basket for three field goals and a foul. S. H. S. then got busy and put the ball through the basket four times while New Albany found their goal but once. The first half ended, 9 to 9. The second half was "see-saw" fashion, Seymour scoring then New Albany. The southern Indiana lads broke away the last ten

WIRELESS TELEPHONE USED THOUSAND MILES

Secretary Daniels Talks to President Wilson—Only One Way Service Was Provided.

By United Press.

Washington, February 22.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels was in wireless telephone communication with President Wilson on the U. S. Steamer George Washington this morning. While the wireless telephone could be used for only a one way conversation, a wireless telegraph message from the President stated that he heard Daniel's words plainly.

Daniels informed the President that plans are made for his reception in Boston and also in Washington upon his arrival. The George Washington was about 700 miles off shore at 1 o'clock this morning. The total distance covered by the wireless telephone message including the land distance from Washington was about 1,000 miles.

MORE FURS STOLEN FROM FRANK FRANKLIN'S SHED

Unsuccessful Attempt is Also Made to Enter Room Where Meat Supply is Kept.

Frank Franklin is fast becoming the most popular victim of "small town" thieving in Seymour. His fur shed was broken into again Friday night and $15 worth of muskrat and "possum hides taken. This is the second time Mr. Franklin has been robbed of his pelts and to make things more interesting for all parties concerned he announced today that a reward of $50 would be paid to whosoever apprehended or led to the arrest of the person or persons involved in the diabolical attempt to break up his fur trade. His former loss amounted to nearly $100. Had the thief called a couple of nights sooner the loss would have been nearly $700.

Friday night the fur thief tried to add the theft of Mr. Franklin's store of meat to his previous accumulation of dark deeds. The meat had been salted away in a wing of the residence that is separate from the rest of the house. The only means of entrance was through the high window in the rear of the house and here the thief, unable to reach much above the window sill, left signs of having pried his crow bar with much diligence. The window did not yield however and the disappointed thief threw the bar down with disgust and went away leaving it where the police found it this morning.

If the $50 reward doesn't bring the culprit to justice Mr. Franklin will probably mount guard over his property. From the thoroughness with which the thief works it is probable that he keeps in personal touch with Mr. Franklin's actions through the day.

ASSEMBLY HONORS FIRST PRESIDENT

Indiana House and Senate Pays Tribute to Work and Service of George Washington.

APPROPRIATION MEASURES

Speaker Eschbach Opposed to Setting of Precedent of Raising Salaries Through Bill.

By United Press.

Indianapolis, Ind., February 22.—Tributes were paid to the memory of George Washington by the general assembly today. The senate adjourned until Monday at 10 o'clock, while the house met at 9:30 for a short session, during which speeches were delivered in eulogy of Washington.

The house was not to take up consideration of the appropriations bill again until Monday afternoon. Adjournment was taken hurriedly yesterday after a few items had been done over, when members of the house raised strenuous objections to raises in salaries granted in the bill.

All departments of the state government were today ordered to present an itemized statement of appropriations asked for their departments in the appropriation bill by the house of representatives.

A resolution to this effect introduced by Representative Symonds of Henry county, was adopted by the house.

Representative Laughlin in speaking in favor of the resolution, declared that the public service commission is authorized to spend only $56,000 a year but asks for $109,000 and last year spent $106,000. "We should know where the rest of this money goes," he said.

As the measure was presented to the house, it would give the secretary of state $1,500 more yearly; audit clerk in the auditor's department $500 yearly. Objection was also raised to granting the state board of health $10,000 additional yearly.

Speaker Eschbach took the position that it would be a bad precedent to raise the salary of any official through the appropriation bill.

The senate, after considerable debate, amended the Kessler bill granting increased salaries to school teachers, placing the bill in its original form to give increases of about 47 per cent. to all teachers. The bill had previously been amended lowering the scale.

If the bill receives favorable action, it will cause an increased expenditure of about $2,000,000 in the state.

GERMANY ABLAZE WITH REVOLUTION

Spartan Outbreaks in Ruhr and Rhine Districts Reported To Be Growing.

DESPERATE BATTLES WAGED

Munich in Hands of Revolutionary Forces—Riots Have Occurred in Hungary.

By United Press.

London, February 22.—Germany is ablaze again with revolution. The uprising has spread to Hungary. Reports from various sources today show that Spartan outbreaks in the Ruhr and Rhine districts are growing more menacing, that Munich is in the hands of the revolutionaries and that Budapest is endangered by a revolt.

Ninety localities in the Ruhr valley are held by the Spartans and the uprising is said to be getting beyond the control of the government. Desperate fighting has broken out in several points in different parts of the country. 700 Spartans are said to have been killed in battle at Dorsten and Hervest. New riots occurred in Hamburg.

Civil war broke out in Munich yesterday it was reported in dispatches received here today. The mobs plundered shops and residences. Hundreds of civilians fled from the city. Others were prevented from leaving after the Spartans seized the railroads.

A Wiemar dispatch says that, Chancellor Scheidemann, after announcing that the assassination of Premier Eisner and Minister Auer left Munich in control of the Spartans, declared today that relentless warfare would be waged against the radicals.

The government has been ordered to employ every form of its command to crush terrorism everywhere, the chancellor said. The Cabinet feels that the new revolution has actually begun.

Government forces apparently have been able to control the situation in the Ruhr and Rhine districts, where rioting accompanied the general strike, but new outbreaks were reported today to be cropping out in other parts of the country.

THE NATION HONORS HIM

GEORGE WASHINGTON

THE INJUNCTION.

Judge Louis B. Ewbank, judge of the Marion circuit court, has granted a temporary injunction restraining the Central Union and the Indianapolis Telephone Companies from enforcing the new Burleson rate order which forces additional charges upon telephone users. In Jackson county alone the new order meant an additional expense of about $500 a month. This will indicate the tremendous increase in revenue which would come to the federal administration if the order is permitted to stand. It is a strange fact that while in most communities it is contended that the telephone companies make reasonable profit under the old rates the government administration with a single stroke of the pen saddled upon the public additional rate charges. The fact that the government needs more income to operate the systems is proof that federal control is not as economic as private control.

The government has broad powers in any thing that it undertakes, but it does not appear that without good reason, it ought to be vested with authority to take over telephone systems and then without an investigation fix rates for the various localities. The operation of telephone systems is a business and ought to be conducted on a business principle. The rates throughout the country cannot be uniform as the conditions are radically different.

Arrangements on the temporary injunction will be made within a few days. It is likely that the government will attempt to get a final decision on the ruling within a short time so that the future program of the telephone administration may be mapped out.

The house, Friday, passed a bill appropriating $750,000,000 for the railroad administration revolving fund. This bill will likely be enacted into law as the administration must have at least this amount of money to meet the deficiency which has been incurred. Once again the public gets a taste of the cost of government management. The freight tariffs are higher than under private ownership and passenger rates have soared to a new high mark. Under government control any losses are made up by taxation which throws a double burden on the public.

Mrs. H. V. Evans and son, Carl T. returned Friday afternoon from Hot Springs, Ark., where they spent several weeks with relatives.

SOME DEDUCTIONS PROVIDED BY LAW

Business Expense Important Item to

Those Who Are Required to Pay Income Taxes.

WHAT FARMER MAY CHECK OFF

Merchants and Manufacturers May

Subtract Expenses for

Conduct of Business.

Work on the collection of $6,000,000,000 has been begun by the Bureau of Internal Revenue. This is the estimated yield of the new revenue bill. The income tax provisions of the act reach the pocket-book of every single person in the United States whose net income for 1918 was $1,000, or more, and of every married person whose net income was $2,000 or more. Persons whose net income equalled or exceeded these amounts, according to their marital status, must file a return of income with the collector of internal revenue for the district in which they live on or before March 15.

Liberal deductions for business expenses are allowed by the new revenue bill.

"Business expenses" are the amounts actually paid or incurred during the tax year in the conduct of a business, trade or profession. In computing net income a merchant may find his profits on the following basis:

First ascertain the gross sales and the other items of gross income, such as interest on bank balances and miscellaneous items. Then add together the inventory at the beginning of the year and the cost of goods purchased for re-sale. From this sum subtract the inventory at the end of the year, and the result is the cost of goods sold. This cost, plus necessary business expenses is to be deducted from the gross sales and other income, and the result is the net income of the business.

If the taxpayer's accounts are kept on a receipts and payments basis the return may be made in accordance therewith.

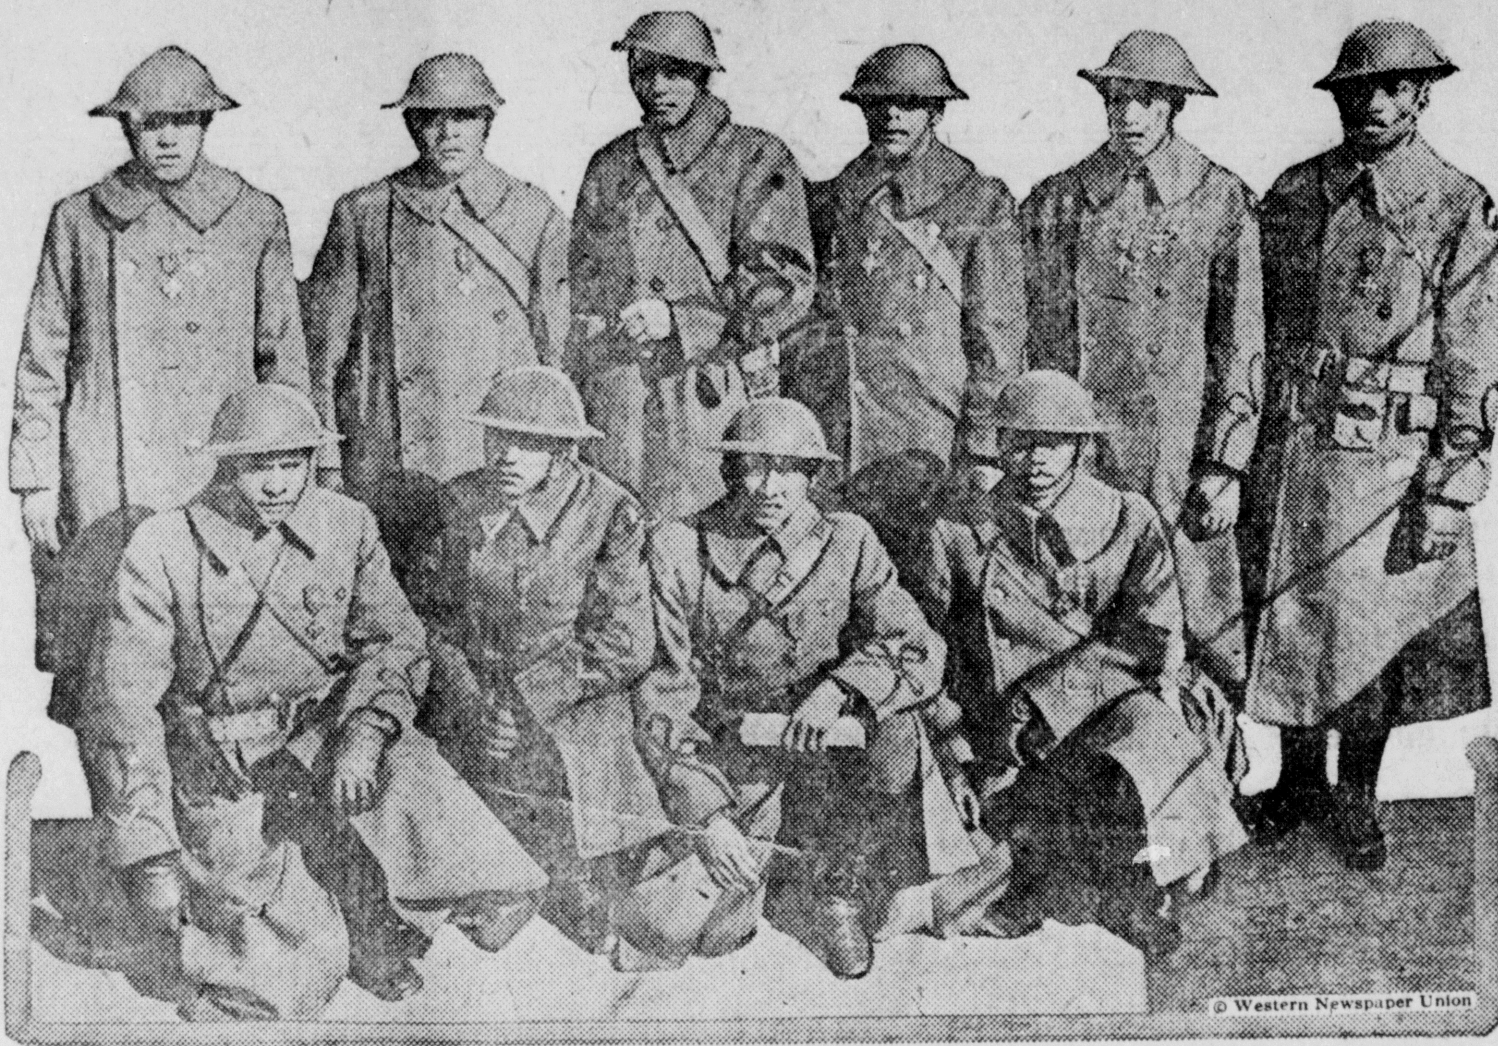

A merchant may claim as deductions the amount paid for advertising, hire of clerks and other employees, the cost of light and fuel, water, telephone, etc., used in his place of business, the cost of operating delivery wagons, motor trucks and incidental repairs to such vehicles.

Amounts expended in entertaining an out-of-town customer may be deducted if the sole purpose is to cultivate the good will of the customer and obtain an increase in trade.

A physician may claim as deductions the cost of medicines and medical supplies used by him in his practice, a reasonable proportion of the expenses paid in the maintenance and repair of an automobile used in making professional calls, the expenses of attending medical conventions, dues to medical societies and subscriptions to medical journals, the rent paid for office rooms, the cost of heat, water, telephone, etc., used in such office rooms and the hire of office assistants. If his office is a rented home, he may claim as a deduction that proportion of the rent properly chargeable to the rooms used for professional purposes. The same deductions are allowed a dentist.

The farmer may deduct all amounts paid in preparing his land for a crop, and the cultivation, harvesting and marketing of the crop. The cost of seed and fertilizer used and amounts spent in caring for live stock are deductible items. The cost of minor repairs, to farm buildings, other than the dwelling, and of fences, farm machinery and wagons, may be claimed, also the cost of farm tools which are used up in the course of a year or two and of materials for immediate use, such as binding twine, stock powders, etc. The cost of machinery of a permanent character, such as threshing machine or tractor, is held to be a capital investment, and is not allowable deduction. Deduction may be made for rent paid for a farm.

This, in a general way, outlines the ordinary expenses incurred by a merchant, professional man or farmer, and the principle underlying these allowances is equally applicable in the conduct of any trade, business or profession. In short, all expenses connected directly and solely with the conduct of an income-producing business, trade, profession or vocation are allowable.

With the passage of the new revenue bill the problem of making out an income tax return for 1918 is presented to millions of taxpayers.

Last year the taxpayer had to keep in mind the provisions of the 1916 and 1917 acts both of which were effective. This year he has only one law to consider. The new revenue bill, however, contains a number of important changes, with which, in order fully to comply with the law, taxpayers must acquaint themselves.

Probably the most important change affecting individuals is the rate, the exemptions of $1000 for single persons and $2,000 for married persons and heads of families remaining the same as under the 1917 act. The normal rate of tax under the new act is 6 per cent. on the first $4,000 of net income above the exemptions and 12 per cent. on the remaining net income. This applies to every citizen and resident of the United States. Alien non-residents of the United States having property here are taxed on the income from that property to the full 12 per cent of the normal. For 1919 and subsequent years the rates are fixed at 4 and 8 per cent, respectively. Under the 1917 act the normal rate was 2 per cent. on net income in excess of the exemptions.

Under the 1916 act the normal rate was 2 per cent. on the net income of single persons in excess of $3,000 and 2 per cent. on the net income of married persons and heads of families in excess of $4,000. The normal rate of tax on incomes in excess of the exemptions provided for by the 1916 act, therefore was 4 per cent.

The new bill provides an additional exemption of $200 for each person dependent upon the taxpayer for chief support, if such person is under eighteen years of age, or incapable of self-support. Under the 1917 act the $200 exemption was granted only or each dependent child of the person making the return, or when the return was made by the head of a family, for each dependent child of a family. A head of a family is one who supports one or more persons closely connected with him by blood relationship, relationship by marriage or by adoption.

The period for filing ends March 15. The tax may be paid in full at the time of filing the return, or in four installments, the first of which is due on or before March 15, the second on or before June 15, the third on or before September 15 and the fourth on or before December 15.

Heavy penalties are provided for persons who fail or "willfully refuse" to file their return and pay the tax within the time specified by law. For failure to file a return the penalty is a fine of not more than $1,000 and an additional assessment of 25 per cent of the amount of tax due. For "willfully refusing" to make a return the penalty is a fine of not more than $10,000, or one year's imprisonment, or both. A similar penalty is provided for making a fraudulent return, and, in addition, an assessment of 50 per cent. of the amount due. Persons who fail to pay the tax when due are subject to a fine of not more than $1,000 and an assessment of 5 per cent. of the amount unpaid, plus 1 per cent. interest for each full month during which it remains unpaid.

Forms for making returns may be obtained from offices of collectors of internal revenue. Taxpayers with incomes of more than $5,000 should ask for Form 1040 A. Those with incomes of more than $5,000 should ask for Form 1040.

power that entered the territory of helpless nations in an attempt to gain its own selfish and brutal ends. Before the world war the United States regarded itself as a power that lived unto itself, he said, but when civilization was crushed, this nation caught the larger vision of duty and stretched out its hand to give relief and assistance.

The speaker said that it took a mighty force to awaken the United States to the fact that it could no longer live in its selfish exclusiveness and that it had a duty towards the other nations of the world. As the spirit of brotherly love has grown among the individuals so it has grown among the nations, he said. In illustration of this he referred to the league of nations the theory of which is that all powers of the world shall work in harmony and co-operation not for selfish ends but for the advancement of the whole world and for humanity.

COAL DUST LODGED IN MINER'S LUNGS

Mr. Bunn tells how his cough was conquered and health restored.

"I contracted a bad cough in November, 1916. I was working in a coal mine and the doctors said the coal dust had settled in my lungs. I kept getting worse, couldn't lie down on my right side, coughed so I couldn't sleep and had constant pain in my right lung and under my shoulder blades. I coughed so hard the blood would spurt out of my nose. I soon lost 30 pounds. Finally the doctors had me change climate and I went to the Cumberland Mountains and lived out doors, but didn't improve.

"Then I came back home and started on Milks Emulsion. Thank God I did, as it did me a lot of good right from the start, loosening up the coal dust that had filled my right lung. In a few weeks my lungs were free from coal dust. I could sleep at night like a baby, had an excellent appetite and my cough left me entirely. I gained back 30 pounds in weight and went back to work in the mines completely restored to health. I am working every day and feel as good as I ever did in my life."—G. H. Bunn, 6th Ave. & No. 13th St., Terre Haute, Ind.

Thousands of victims of dust filled air, in mines and factories, develop the same trouble that Mr. Bunn had. Milks Emulsion costs nothing to try, so why not at least try it? It is certain to be a help, and it may do as much for you as it did for Mr. Bunn.

Milks Emulsion is a pleasant, nutritive food and a corrective medicine. It restores healthy, natural bowel action, doing away with all need of pills and physics. It promotes appetite and quickly puts the digestive organs in shape to assimilate food. As a builder of flesh and strength, Milks Emulsion is strongly recommended to run-down nervous people, and it has produced amazing results in many cases of tuberculosis of the lungs. Indianapolis, February 22—Tight skirts of ankle length may prevent Indiana women from casting a vote for presidential electors unless the state's general election laws are modified, according to L. W. Henley, Republican state committee chairman. Under the existing laws governing elections it is provided that eight inches of the voter's legs must be visible from the outside of the balloting booth. This and other difficulties must be overcome before the Johnson law, granting Indiana women the right to vote for candidates for presidential electors can apply to all women of the state. No provision has thus far been made for women voting when voting machines are used instead of the Australian ballot system.

To Protect Memorial Day.
By United Press.

Indianapolis, Ind., February 22.—Automobile races, professional athletic contests, including baseball, and other sports at which admissions are charged may be prohibited on Memorial Day if the Senate approves the House action on a bill by Representative Winfield Miller, of Indianapolis.

The bill was drawn up with view of making Memorial Day sacred and one of solely patriotic attractions, according to its author, but there is understood to be considerable opposition to it on the part of many members of the upper house who have asserted themselves as favoring "good clean American sport at all times."

POORLY STARTED ORCHARD IS RARELY A SUCCESS

Purdue Horticultural Staff Declares Selection of Varieties is Important Feature.

By United Press.

Lafayette, Ind., February 22.—"An apple orchard must be properly started in order to lay the foundation for future success. A poorly started orchard rarely turns out to be anything but a disappointing failure," says C. L. Burkholder, of the Purdue University horticultural extension staff.

Some of the things of fundamental importance in starting a young orchard are proper selection of varieties and their weak and strong points in different sections of the state. Some varieties have a tendency to bear annually, others biennially. This is an important point to consider in choosing varieties for commercial orchards. The Grimes Golden one of the most profitable kinds in Indiana has a tendency to show collar rot. How this fault can be overcome will be discussed by Burkholder at the Fruit Growers' Short Course to be given at Purdue University March 1.

The soil management in young apple orchards during the first few years is of utmost importance in the final success of the orchard. Methods of planting and proper setting as regards to pollination will be discussed. The handling of orchards in hilly sections of the state also will be taken up in detail, by Prof Burkholder, who has taken up the study of commercial orchards in detail.

minutes of play and ran up the score of 25 to 20. With but three and a half minutes to play the locals faced this odd. Shouts arose, "Just hold them that's all that's necessary." However New Albany failed. James started the final rush with two field goals after which Winters threw a foul. The score now stood 26 to 25 in favor of New Albany with about twenty seconds to play. James got the "tip-off" and after making several attempts G. Keach dropped the ball through the basket. Before the players had retaken their places the final whistle blew, Seymour 27 and New Albany 26.

Strange things will happen and the real strength of S. H. S. has not been found. Although Columbus defeated the locals twice this season, hopes for the district tournament were renewed last night. But two games remain on the local schedule one with Madison tonight on the local floor and the other at Madison next Friday. S. H. S. has booked both games as victories since North Vernon defeated Madison twice, while the locals returned the compliments on North Vernon by large scores. The game tonight is the last home game and the S. H. S. quintet should receive the hearty support of local enthusiasts.

Summary of the game last night is as follows:

DISTRICT TEAMS GETTING READY FOR STATE TOURNEY

Sectional Basketball Matches Will Be Held in Indiana March 7 and 8.

As March draws closer and the district teams get down to harder work, talk and excitement increases. Officials at Purdue who have charge of the state tournament to be held there on the 13, 14 and 15 announce that many good teams will compete in the state tourney.

Steve Hannigan, in charge of publicity on the tournament, sends out the information that the big show at Purdue will undoubtedly be the best ever held, for there will be more good teams, closer competition and better accommodations for players and fans than ever before, and all Lafayette is exerting itself to make comfortable ble the enormous crowd of visitors expected to attend the annual classic.

The sectional tournaments will be held in twenty cities March 7 and 8, and in practically every district there are one or more teams favored, but all will have to play real basketball if they are to be numbered among the score of quintets to battle for the state title in the final tourney at Purdue.

Because of some of the more noticeable upsets in the dope many fans are claiming that favorites are tossing games to other teams so as to draw attention to other fives. This, the fans claim, is being done because teams usually try harder to beat the favorites and therefore the playing life of the favored five is one of bumps and knocks.

In the Frankfort district it will be a hot race between Lebanon, the state champs, Thorntown and Advance. Advance has beaten both teams. If there is a dark horse club this year it will probably hail from the northern section of the state, although the southern district always puts at least one speedy five in the field.

Three counties—Montgomery, Tippecanoe and Boone—have always had the honor of capturing the state tournament since it was first held in 1911 and many teams believe the 1919 title winners will hail from one of this trio of counties.

HAD WIFE AT EACH END OF CAR LINE, IS CHARGE

Judge Tells Mayme Varble She Must Submit Proof Against Motorman.

The following relative to the troubles of Robert H. Varble, of this city, is taken from the Louisville Times:

If the allegations contained in the petition of Mayme Varble against Robert H. Varble are true she is not married to him and cannot be granted a divorce, Judge Arthur M. Wallace said in a written opinion handed down in joint session to-day in which he remanded the case for additional proof. She says that subsequent to her supposed marriage to Varble, September 19, 1917, she learned that he had a wife living in Seymour, Ind., and she went to that city and learned that she had been married to Varble for more than five years.

If her allegation is true she is entitled to have the marriage annulled, the court said, but to sustain the charge she must produce proof of the prior marriage, either by a certified copy of the marriage license and return thereon or by other substantive testimony. As the records now stands it simply shows that the Louisville wife was told by the Seymour wife that she was married to Varble, the court said, which is not sufficient proof to annul the second marriage.

Varble is a motorman for the Southern Indiana traction Company and spent half of his time in Seymour and the other half in this city, the Louisville wife says in her petition.

OPTIONAL FEATURE

New Amendment Offered to The Primary Bill.

By United Press.

Indianapolis, February 22—One of the most important amendments which has been prepared to the Beardsley-VanAuken primary election bill which will be taken up as a special order of business in the Senate Monday, was written by Senator Hogsten, of Marion, and proposes to permit one party holding a convention and another holding a primary election simultaneously, it was learned today.

Senators Beardsley and VanAuken have stated that they both approve of the proposed amendment and will offer no opposition to its adoption to their jointly introduced measure. It was also brought out that it was originally intended to include an optional feature when the bill was first drafted but that there was a slight difference in opinion at that time regarding the matter.

Arthur W. Smith, who has been with the Marine Corps on guard duty at New London, Conn., has just completed a test on the rifle range where he made a record as expert rifleman with a score of 264, eleven more points than the required number. The tests were both on rapid firing and slow firing and at ranges varying from 200 yards to 600 yards.

QUEEN ANNE STYLE

During the reign of William and Mary in England, 1689-1702, most of England's furniture, or at least the designs for most of her furniture, came from Holland; Dutch features marked the creations of even the greatest of English designers then. Queen Anne upon coming to the throne, encouraged so enthusiastically the efforts of men who were shaping the trend of favor more and more strongly towards newer ideas in furniture making, that the style became known after her name.

Her name then, doesn't signify the beginning of furniture of that style in her time, but rather, indicates the apex of its popularity and development as an individual type. Her influence and encouragement are responsible for the applied name.

The Queen Anne pieces are characterized by plain surfaces, small rounded detail and cabriole legs. It was in this period that the "chest of drawers" came into vogue. Quiet grace and quaintness, combined with an individuality breathing distinctiveness, typifies Queen Anne furniture. It is truly artistic when its features are developed and carried out as they have been by our manufacturers.

INDIANA INSIDE TIRE CO. ORGANIZED IN THIS CITY

Albert L. Walters is President of New Concern Which Has Purchased Its Equipment.

A new company to be known as the Indiana Inside Tire Company, has been formed in this city with Albert L. Walters, president of the Seymour Business College, at the head. The company has closed a deal with Willard Miller, representing the Maxwell Manufacturing Company, of Wichita, Kas., for a tire skiving machine and for other equipment for the repair of automobile inner tubes and casings. Mr. Miller is the son of L. F. Miller, of this city, and was recently discharged from the army. Before entering the military service he represented the Maxwell Company in the west and has now become its representative in Indiana.

The tire skiving machine is one of the latest improvement for repairing automobile casings. The machine has been in use in the west for a number of years and has proved successful. With the machine it is possible to shave off the bead of a tire to a feather edge so that it can be slipped inside of another casing, and it thus serves as an interliner. It is claimed that the tire gives strength to the casing, eliminates punctures and blowouts and makes possible greater mileage at a minimum cost.

It is also stated that in addition to this machine the firm is to install a modern and up-to-date vulcanizing plant. It is thought the equipment will arrive in time to be

What to Pray For.

Oh, do not pray for easy lives. Pray to be stronger men. Do not pray for tasks equal to your powers. Pray for powers equal to your tasks. Then the doing of your work shall be no miracle.
But you shall be a miracle. Every day you shall wonder at yourself, at the richness of life which has come to you by the grace of God.—Phillips Brooks.

Religion Worth Having.

A religion that cannot be brought into every phase of life is not worth having; and the affairs of life that cannot be maintained side by side with Christ's teachings ought to be scrapped without delay. And until the brotherhood movement rises to its responsibilities and makes these facts plain, it will fail to be the power it may be its privilege to become.

A Real Cure.

Progress is the real cure for an over-estimate of ourselves.—G. Macdonald.

Sacrifice.

A work that requires no sacrifice
does not count for much in fulfilling God's plans. But what is commonly called sacrifice is the best, happiest
use of one's self and one's resources—
the best investment of time, strength, and means. He who makes no such sacrifice is most to be pitied. He is a heathen because he knows nothing of God.—Samuel Chapman Armstrong.

Thy Friend.

Make not thy friend too cheap to thee, nor thyself to thy friend.—Fuller.

Temperance Notes

(Conducted by the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.)

LIQUOR TRAFFIC A MENACE TO YOUTH.

Judge W. C. Mentzer of the First judicial district of the state of Wyoming, gives the following as his reasons for believing in prohibition:

"During over 21 years' experience since I began the practice of law, I have constantly been in a position to observe, and have observed, the cruel and cursed consequences of drunkenness. I have seen boys and young men of good families ruined by liquor, charged with and convicted of serious criminal offenses, and lodged in a felon's cell, their families disgraced and pauperized; I have seen them rotten with loathsome disease and insane as the result of drunkenness.

"During my six years on the bench
as judge of the district court of the First district of Wyoming, in the discharge of my duty I have been compelled to send approximately 300 men to the penitentiary, jail or reformatory, for criminal offenses committed by them against the laws of the state of Wyoming, and I know that 90 per cent of these crimes were caused by drunkenness.

"During the same period of time there has scarcely a week passed that I have not been called upon to grant one or more divorces, and I know that fully 85 per cent of these cases were traceable to drunkenness. I have also been compelled to take many children from the homes of drunkards and give them over to the state or charitable institutions, their homes having been destroyed by drunkenness."

THE UNPARDONABLE SIN.

Science tells us that alcohol is the specific for degeneracy; that is, it stops the building process. Life is not founded on a level plane; everything that lives has an inclined plane; the individual type of species develops along a certain line of evolution. They have made a discovery, that whatever
the line of the creature's evolution, whether plants, animals or man are dealt with, alcohol will begin by tearing down at the top, thus exactly reversing the building process. This is called degeneracy, and it is the unpardonable sin. When degeneracy sets in, when the creature ceases to rise, the curse of nature descends upon him; nature shortens his life and blights it. It is true whether in the vegetable kingdom, the kingdom of the animal, the kingdom of man, whether you deal with the family, nation, empire, or civilization. Alcohol strikes at the reproduction of life; it blights the offspring unborn. In a few generations it practically exterminates the family, and would exterminate the nation.—Richmond Pearson Hobson.

SOME OF THE THINGS RATIFICA- TION WILL DO.

It will harmonize the state and federal policy of government in dealing with the liquor problem.

The $2,000,000,000 spent for liquor, which comes from the earnings of the mechanics, laborers, farmers and tradespeople will be spent for something less harmful—something which will give a larger return per capita.

All the existing liquor capital of the nation will be at work along honest, wealth-producing lines.

Labor will be benefited, because the capital now invested in liquor industries will, when employed in constructive manufactures, employ four times
as many men and distribute a proportionately greater amount in wages.

There will be no confiscation of property because no property will be taken from anyone. The law will simply require that a man use his property in a fashion to do more good to the community and to himself.—Ratification Handbook.

A LIBEL ON THE WORKMEN.

Why should the laborers in the war industries be branded as less loyal and patriotic, less willing to make sacrifices for the winning of the war, than other men and women? The soldier or sailor cheerfully forgoes indulgence in intoxicants without threatening to lay down his arms. Men who work on the railroads and in other important positions feel it no hardship to abstain from alcohol in all its forms. There is no reason to suppose that other men who are doing war work quite as important as that of the men in uniform are made of inferior stuff.

Winnipeg, Canada, during three months of 1918 reduced its police force by 33, due to prohibition. This will effect the saving of nearly $30,000
yearly.

The Coming World Ruler

By REV. B. B. SUTCLIFFE
Extension Department, Moody Bible
Institute, Chicago

TEXT—The government shall be upon his shoulder.—Isa. 9:6.

The One mentioned in the text is none other than the coming Prince of Peace, the King

of kings and the Lord of lords, Jesus Christ, who is to be the ruler of this world and
who will reign as King. The ancient idea that a
king was the patriarchal father,
friend and guardian of his people
pertains to this Coming King. There are four marks of his king-
ship.

I. He has absolute authority. There is no such thing as limited monarchy, much less democracy, about the kingship of this Coming One. He will be no mere figurehead, as some of the kings of our day. The second chapter of this prophet Isaiah declares he will judge between the nations. All international questions will in his day
be referred to him and from his decisions there will be no appeal. This is in accord with the ancient idea of kingship, but with the difference that where other kings were subject to error and made mistakes there will be no errors or mistakes in the exercise of authority by the Prince of Peace.
Ruling in the supreme authority given him by God and ruling with the glory of God as the one motive of all his acts, there will come under this benefi-cent king the full blessedness on earth
for which man has waited so long.

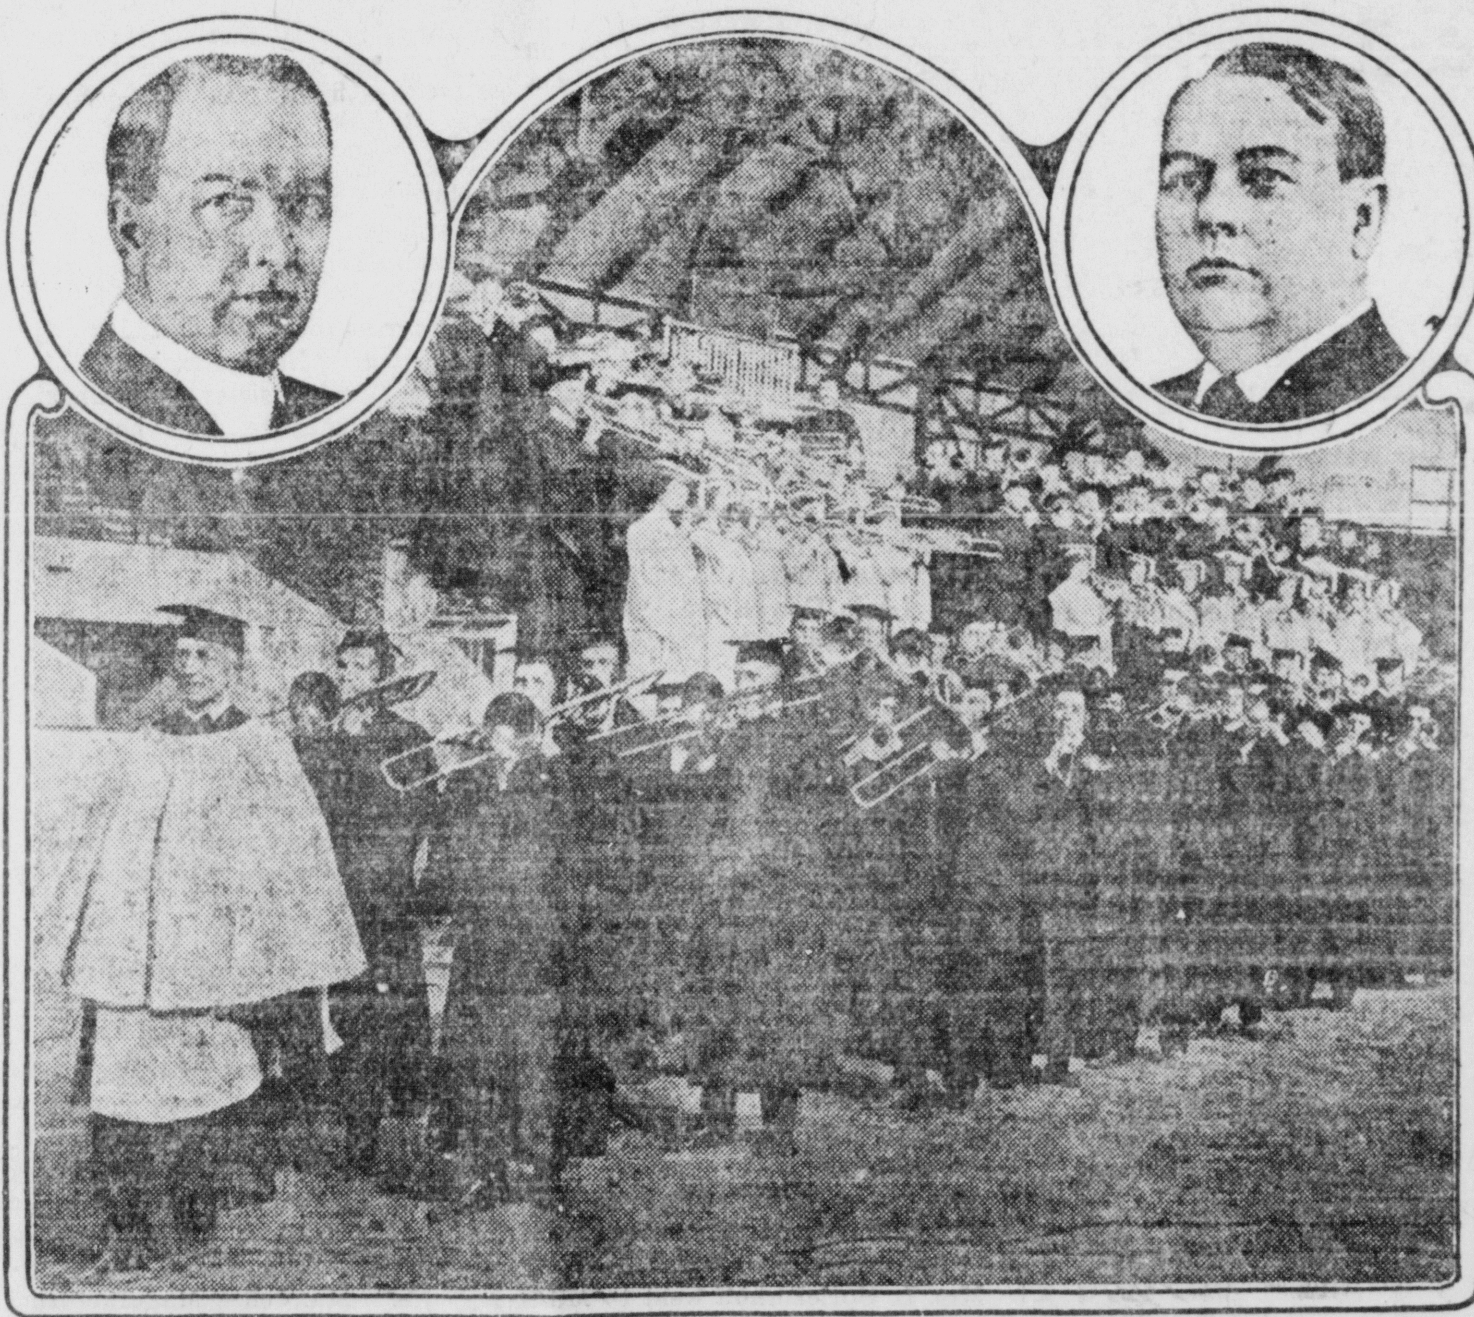

II.—He will have supreme power.
There have been and there are today kings who have authority but lack the power to exercise it. This Coming One will have all power for the full and proper exercise of his authority.
None will be able to turn him aside from his decrees, nor will any be able to make his decrees null and void.
Even some who will be disposed to resent his authority will, because of his power, bow to his decrees. Ruling as he will, wholly for the glory of God,
means that all selfish exercise of power will be done away, and those who would feather their own nests by oppression will find their occupation gone. This would cause war to be heard were it not that this Ruler has all power to enforce his decrees. As all his decrees are calculated to bring supreme blessing to all men it is little wonder that his coming is awaited by many with eagerness and delight.

III.—He will provide certain protection. The ancient king was charged with the guardianship of his people, who looked to him to guard them from their enemies. This Coming King will afford such protection for his own that none will make them afraid, but all will dwell in security and peace. In his day every man will dwell under his own vine and fig tree, no oppression of the weak will be found, and no unfair advantage whereby one may grow rich at the expense of another
will be allowed throughout the world.
Man will then have a chance to come to his full development, with no fear of sudden destruction of himself or of his plans. There will be protection from wars and rumors of war, protection from the criminal and the lawless,
and protection from all evil save only
that which individual men and women will desire to carry within themselves.
Certain protection will be afforded by the unlimited power and absolute authority of the Coming King against all the machinations of evil and the unrighteousness of men.

IV.—He will bring full provision for his people. The ancient king was looked to by his people to provide all necessary provision, and his people's needs were his sacred charge. Like a father he was supposed to provide for his own people as though they were his children. So this One who is coming will provide for his own all things
required to make contentment the rule throughout the world. In his reign the waste places will bring forth, the wilderness will blossom as the rose and the dry lands will become fruitful fields. The cry of hunger will never be heard and famine will only be remembered as a nightmare of days gone
by. With fullness of bread there will be the full knowledge of the Lord, for his knowledge will cover the earth as the waters cover the sea.

In the midst of all the strife and suffering of today the above sounds like some dream impossible of fulfillment.
But the word of the Lord has declared it, and his word is settled forever in heaven. Every jot and every tittle of what he has written is sure of full realization, and the signs of the times give every encouragement that the coming of the Great King is not far off. In the midst of the distress of nations and the fear of what is coming on the earth, it is well to comfort our hearts with the assurance that in God's good time he will bring forth
his king, who will give to all the tangled threads of life and all the chaotic conditions of the world a divine order
and a blessed rule for all peoples.

The Methodist Centenary Trombone Choir of 100 instruments is here shown leaving the stage in recessional. At the head is Frank M. Sutphen, director. This is the first time 100 trombones ever have been organized into a single musical unit. Above, at the left, is S. Earl Taylor, director general of the celebration, of New York. At the right is W. B. Beauchamp of Nashville, Tenn., associate director general of the celebration, representing the Methodist Church South.

ONE hundred trombones, mobilized
for the Methodist Centenary Celebration in Columbus, Ohio, June 20 to July 7, will pour forth the harmony of "Hallelujah Chorus" and
"Holy City" in the huge Coliseum where the musical features of the celebration will be held.

One hundred trombones—some so large and some so small that they must be made to order—will blend their music in the largest, and, so far as is known, the only choir of its kind in the world.

Being absolutely new and unique,
the trombone choir has presented any number of difficulties to its organizers, the Centenary Celebration committee. In the first place, they must find 100 trombone players within reasonable distance of Columbus. They solved this problem by mobilizing all the professional players, and completing the organization with talented amateurs. Anthony Ruppersburg was made business manager of the choir,

and Frank M. Sutphen, a well known trombonist of Columbus, was secured as director of the 100 musicians, who are contributing their time and talent
to making a success of the Centenary Trombone Choir.

A greater problem lay in what to play, for no music had ever been written for a trombone choir of 100 players. It had to be specially prepared. Nationally known composers are now at work arranging such sacred and semi-sacred selections as the "Soldiers' Chorus" from Faust,
"Holy City," "Hallelujah Chorus" and
"Onward Christian Soldiers" for the huge choir.

The Centenary Choir is composed of 12 soprano trombones, 18 altos, 40
tenors, 18 baritones and 12 bass trombones. These 100 instruments are arranged to form six separate choirs, each a musical unit in itself. At the extreme right of each bank, or choir,
come two soprano trombones no larger than cornets. These instruments are made to order. Next come three altos, then two first tenors, and two second tenors. In the center of each row are the third and fourth tenors. Next come the first, second and third baritones, each with a part of its own, then the big B flat bass trombone, and, on the end of each choir, the F bass, a majestic affair,

which also had to be made to order
for the Centenary Choir.

"Most people have the mistaken
idea that the trombone is a blaring, blasting instrument, used solely for the purpose of making noise," says Mr. Sutphen, the director. "On the contrary, it is one of the truest of musical instruments. Having neither valves nor frets, it can be tuned perfectly as it is played, and its tones
can be softened to the mellow notes
of the violin.

"So adaptable is the trombone, so wonderful is its power of expression,
that it can take the place of flute,
cello, cornet or violin, in an orchestra. And the same variety of tones
may be perfected in a correctly balanced choir of trombones as the largest organ can produce."

CHAPTER II.

A Bit of Oratory.

Marshall threw his hat on a chair, the morning paper on his desk. He aimed his burned-out cigar at the nearest cuspidor, but it fell foul, the ashes scattering over Sam's lately scoured linoleum. Instantly there was appearance of settled disorder. Marshall emptied his pockets of loose papers, spreading them out on his flat-top desk.

"Sit down!" Rickard took the chair at the other side of the desk.

Marshall rang a bell. Instantly the shirt-sleeved clerk entered.

"I shall not see anyone," the chief announced. "I don't want to be interrupted. Take these to Smythe."

His eyes followed the shutting of the door, then turned square upon Rickard. "I need you. It's a h—l of a mess!"

The engineer wanted to know what kind of a "mess" it was.

"That river. It's running away from them. I'm going to send you down to stop it."

"The Colorado!" exclaimed Rickard. It was no hose to be turned, simply, off from a garden bed.

"Of course you've been following it? It's one of the biggest things that's happened in this part of the world. Too big for the men who have been trying to swing it. You've followed it?"

"Yes." Queer coincidence, reading that report just now! "I've not been there. But the engineering papers used to get to me in Mexico. I've read all the reports."

His superior's question was uncharacteristically superfluous. Who had not read with thrilled nerves of that wild river which men had been trying to put under work-horses? Who, even among the stay-at-homes, had not followed the newspaper stories of the failure to make a meek servant and water carrier of the Colorado, that wild steed of mountain and desert? What engineer, no matter how remote, would not "follow" that spectacular struggle between men and Titans?

"Going to send me to Salton?" he inquired. The railroad had been kept jumping to keep its feet dry. His job to be by that inland sea which last year had been desert!

"No. Brainerd is there. He can manage the tracks. I am going to send you down to the break."

Rickard did not answer. He felt the questioning eyes of his chief.

The break—where those Hardins were—how in thunder was he going to get out of that, and save his skin? Marshall liked his own way—

"We'll consider it settled, then."

"Who's in charge there?" Rickard was only gaining time. He thought he knew the name he would hear. Marshall's first word surprised him.

"No one. Up to a few months ago it was Hardin, Tom Hardin. He was general manager of the company. He was allowed to resign, to save his face, as the Chinese say. I may tell you that it was a case of firing. He'd made a terrible fluke down there."

"I know," murmured Rickard. It was growing more difficult, more distasteful. If Marshall wanted him to supplant Hardin! It had been incredible, that man's folly! Reckless gambling, nothing else. Make a cut in the banks of a wild river, without putting in head gates to control it; a child would guess better! It was a problem now, all right; the writer of the report he'd just read wasn't the only one who was prophesying failure.

Let the river cut back, and the government works at Laguna would be useless; a pickle Hardin had made.

Still to gain time he suggested that Marshall tell him the situation. "I've followed only the engineering side of it. I don't know the relationship of the two companies."

"Where the railroad came in? The inside of that story? I'm responsible—I guaranteed to Faraday the closing of that break. There was a big district to save, a district that the railroad tapped—but I'll tell you that later." He was leisurely puffing blue, perfectly formed rings into the air, his eyes admiring them.

"Perhaps you've heard how Estrada, the general, took a party of men into the desert to sell a mine he owned. After the deal was made he decided to let it slip. He'd found something bigger to do, more to his liking than the sale of a mine. Estrada was a big man, a great man. He had the idea Powell and others had, of turning the river, of saving the desert. He dreamed himself of doing it. If sickness hadn't come to him the Colorado would be meekly carrying water now instead of flooding a country. Pity Eduardo, the son, is not like him. He's like his mother—you never know what they are dreaming about. Not at all alike, my wife and Estrada's."

Then it came to Rickard that he had heard somewhere that Marshall and General Estrada had married sisters, famous beauties of Guadalajara.

"It was Hardin who came to me, but not until he'd tried everything else. They'd worked for months trying to dam the river with a few lace handkerchiefs, and perhaps a chiffon veil!" Marshall was twinkling over his own humor. "Hardin did put up a good talk. It was true, as he said; we'd had to move our tracks three, no, four times at Salton. It was true that it ought to be one of the richest districts tapped by the O. P. But he clenched me by a clever bait—to put out a spur in Mexico which would keep any other railroad off by a fifty-mile parallel, and there the sandhills make a railroad impossible."

"The government must eventually come to the rescue. Their works at Laguna hang on the control of the river down at the heading. Once, he told me—I don't know how much truth there was in it—the service, reclamation service, did try to buy up their plan for a paltry sum. He wouldn't sell. The short is, I recommended long-sighted assistance to Faraday. I promised to turn that river, save the district. We expected before the year was out to have the government take the responsibility off our hands."

Rickard made an impatient shrug. A nice problem Marshall had taken unto himself. He wanted none of it. Hardin—the thing was impossible.

He met laggardly Marshall's story. He heard him say: "Agreed with Faraday. The Desert Reclamation company was as helpless as a swaddled infant. We made the condition that we reorganize the company. I was put in Hardin's place as president of the corporation, and he was made general manager. Of course we had to control the stock. We put up two hundred thousand dollars—Hardin had estimated it would cost us less than half that! It's cost us already a million. Things haven't been going right. Faraday's temper burst out, and Hardin a while back was asked to resign."

"And it is Hardin's position that you want me to fill?" His voice sounded queer to himself—dry, mocking, as if anyone should know what an absurd thing he was being asked to do. He felt Marshall's sharp Indian eyes on him, as if detecting a pettiness. Well, he didn't care how Marshall interpreted it. That place wasn't for him.

"I want you in control down there." Rickard knew he was being appraised, balanced all over again. It made no difference—

"I'm sorry," he was beginning, when Marshall cut in.

"Good Lord, you are not going to turn it down?"

He met Marshall's incredulous stare. "It's a job I'd jump at under most circumstances. But I can't go, sir."

Tom Marshall leaned back the full swing of his swivel chair, blankly astounded. His eyes told Rickard that he had been found wanting—he had white blood in his veins.

"It is good of you to think of me—shaw! it is absurd to say these things. You know that I know it is an honor to be picked out by you for such a piece of work. I'd like to—but I can't."

The president of railroads, who knew men, had been watching the play of feature. "Take your time," he said. "Don't answer too hastily. Take your time."

He was playing the fool, or worse, before Marshall, whom he respected, whose partisanship meant so much. But he couldn't help it. He couldn't tell that story—he knew that Marshall would brush it aside as a child's episode. He couldn't make it clear to the man whose stare was balancing him why he could not oust Tom Hardin.

"Is it a personal reason?" Marshall's gaze had returned to his ring making.

Rickard admitted it was personal. "Then I don't accept it. I wouldn't be your friend if I didn't advise you to disregard the little thing, to take the big thing. Maybe you are going to be married." He did not wait for Rickard's vigorous negative. "That can wait. The river won't. There's a river running away down yonder, ruining the valley, ruining the homes of families men have carried in with them. I've asked you to save them. There's a debt of honor to be paid. My promise. I have asked you to pay it. There's history being written in that desert. I've asked you to write it. And you say 'No.'"

"No! I say yes!" slipped Rickard. The Marshall oratory had swept him to his feet.

The dramatic moment was chilled by their Anglo-Saxon self-consciousness. An awkward silence hung. Then: "When can you go?"

"Today, tomorrow, the first train out."

"Good!"

"Any instructions?"

"Just stop that river!"

"The expense?" demanded the engineer. "How far can I go?"

"D—n the expense!" cried Tom Marshall. "Just go ahead."

SIMPLE HOME REMEDY
An American Mother Beats Them All
There are few families in which the record of Mrs. Gustave Koch, Box 24, Kewick, Keokuk County, Iowa, has been surpassed. Not in the fact that she raised a family of eight is her story remarkable. Thousands of families are larger. The history of the Koch family is unique in that the mother, with all her loving care, pinned her faith to a simple home remedy and never had a doctor for her children. Here is what she says: "Peruna has done my children good. I have a family of eight and never had a doctor, only your medicine. We all think Peruna a splendid tonic." So far as we have learned, Peruna is the only known remedy for which such a wonderful claim can be made. Like Mrs. Koch, there are thousands upon thousands of mothers who place their entire dependence upon Peruna. That Peruna has merited this confidence is attested by the words
